ABOUT US

The Foundation for Women's Cancer (FWC) is the official Foundation of the Society of Gynecologic Oncology (SGO) and supports research, education and public awareness of gynecologic cancers.

ABOUT OUR COURSES

FWC Gynecologic Cancer Education Courses are complimentary to gynecologic cancer patients, survivors, family, friends and supporters interested in learning from leading cancer experts in the United States. Gynecologic oncologists and other members of the cancer care community will share the latest information about gynecologic cancer research and clinical trials.

GET INVOLVED!

The FWC is pleased to offer your organization a complimentary tabletop display! Your organization will get the opportunity to advocate for your cause, while building relationships with survivors, families, supporters and advocacy groups.

ABOUT US

The Society of Gynecologic Oncology (SGO) is a medical specialty society for health care professionals trained in the comprehensive management of gynecologic cancers.

ABOUT THE MEETING

The Annual Meeting attracts over 2,500 attendees a year, including a strong international presence, and it continues to be the premier scientific and educational event for those in the gynecologic oncology field. A large population of the attendees include gynecologic oncologists, nurses, physician assistants, as well as medical oncologists, pathologists, radiation oncologists, hematologists, pharmacists, surgical oncologists, obstetrician/gynecologists, fellows-in-training, and residents.

GET INVOLVED!

SGO is offering complimentary tabletop exhibits for Advocacy Group participants. However, each participant is required to register for the meeting at a fee of $450 per person. Registration includes access to all of the meeting's educational sessions, social events and the Exhibit Hall.
